MEDICACPD

Why are some children and adults able to cope with life's challenges, stresses and set backs yet others falter? Building resilience and confidence in children are important as this is what provides them with the ability to cope with stresses, and to thrive or "bounce back".

This course will provide you with an essential knowledge up date as well as the skills to support children and young people building their own resilience and confidence. Most importantly, we will discuss practical strategies and approaches for fostering resilience and self esteem and how to build your own resilience and self esteem too!

The course will be taught through a lively mix of visual presentations, scenarios, and discussion to ensure your learning is interesting, engaging and informative.

Course Tutor: Dr Alex Yellowlees BSc, MBChB, MRCPsych, MPhil

Alex is Medical Director of the Priory Hospital in Glasgow and the Priory Edinburgh Consulting Rooms. He is a Consultant Psychiatrist providing specialist help for a wide range of psychological and emotional issues such as depression, anxiety, low self-esteem, eating disorders and relationship difficulties. His lively and practical teaching style makes Alex extremely popular as a trainer, presenting at numerous conferences and seminars. He is frequently consulted by the media to comment on health issues and was the resident psychiatrist on STV's 'The Hour Show'. Alex has published and co-authored five books on topics such as self-confidence, self-esteem and eating disorders.
