CHILDREN IN DIFFICULTY

UNDERSTANDING AND HELPING CHILDREN WITH TRAUMA AND ATTACHMENT PROBLEMS

A Half Day Training Course

Thursday 19th May 2016, Glasgow

This course will provide those working with children and young people with a better understanding of trauma and attachment and how you can apply this learning in your daily practice to best support troubled children.

Course Tutor: Dan Johnson, Lead Clinician, Forensic Psychology Service, Kibble

Dan Johnson is a Chartered and Registered Forensic Psychologist and heads the Psychology Department in Kibble Education and Care Centre. He began working in the prison service where he was awarded a Butler Trust Certificate Award for work on violence prevention. He has provided assessment, intervention, training and consultancy to courts, community services, prisons and care providers. He is Honorary Lecturer at Glasgow Caledonian University. Dan aims to increase trauma informed practice with young people and sees this as one of the most effective ways to improve care and outcomes.

CHILDREN IN DIFFICULTY

How Will You Benefit From This Training Course?

It can be difficult to navigate how attachment and traumatic experiences overlap and interplay to affect young people. This training course will explain the effects of traumatic experiences and the role of attachment in both the development and protection from difficulties. It will focus on giving clear direction for practice so that attendees can leave with informed tangible ways of working.

- ▶ Gain clarity on the overlap and differences between attachment, trauma and resilience.
- ▶ Gain an understanding of the role of trauma and attachment in the development/protection from later problems.
- ▶ Gain an understanding of the key principles for working effectively with young people with these difficulties.
- ▶ Identifying clear and informed practice strategies with specific young people.

Who Should Attend?

This course will be invaluable for staff supporting children who have experienced adversity and trauma who work in education, residential care, foster care, social services and health services. Others with an interest are welcome to attend. Main focus will be on children 8 years old plus.
