AUTISM

WHAT HAS DIET GOT TO DO WITH IT?

A Half Day Training Course with Zoe Connor, Dietitian

Wednesday 25th November 2015, Glasgow

Many children on the autistic spectrum have eating problems directly related to a combination of factors that can be part of being on the spectrum. Chronic feeding problems increase a child's risk for poor medical and developmental outcomes, including malnutrition, slow growth, and poor academic achievement. Through a lively mix of presentations, case studies and discussion you will learn:

- ▶ What dietary problems are common in children and young people with autism spectrum disorder (ASD)
- ▶ Why dietary problems might be more common in ASD
- ▶ Tips to help with dietary problems
- ▶ The current professional view on special diets for ASD
